CN Well Test 105 Barrels

Byron Rose, Houston independent operator, filed potential figures on his No. A-1 Ray Woods early this week, which showed it made 105 barrels of 40 gravity oil per day through 16 - 64 inch choke under 200 pounds pressure on tubing during the test.

The No. A-1 Ray Woods, located on a 174 acre lease, is the third well in Milam County's new Cherokee Navarro field about three and one-half miles east of Milano, and is the best producer in the field.

The other two wells are the No. 1 and No. 2 Ray Woods and are located on a nearby 160 acre tract; they produced 85 and 101 barrels per day on potential. Both wells also were drilled by Rose.

The No. A-1 Ray Woods produced from the Navarro on perforations at 3,055 - 70 feet. Rose has scheduled three more wildcats for the new field. They are his No. A-2 and A-3 Ray Woods, located on a 174 acre lease, and his No. 4 Ray Woods, on a 160 acre lease in B. F. Swoap Survey where the No. 1 discovery well was brought in last October.

Fourteen hundred American soldiers imprisoned in Vietnam is another statistic read or heard with concern, than pushed to the background by most Americans because of other, more personal problems.

Not so for one Cameron family. One of those '1,400' is theirs, Lt. Arthur Thomas Hoffson, captured by North Vietnamese last August, is the grandson of Mrs. J. H. Thomas of Cameron and nephew of Mrs. Make McDermott.

The plight of a prisoner of war is uppermost in their minds and their concern is focusing local attention on efforts to secure more humane treatment for prisoners.

Lt. Hoffson, 26, was listed by the military as 'missing' after his plane was reported downed over Vietnam. That was August 18, 1968.

No further word was received until mid-November when his parents, Lt. Col. (Retired) and Mrs. W. A. Hoffson were notified that he was in a "Camp of Detention for U. S. Pilots Captured in the Democratic Republic of Vietnam."

Another month passed before further news. This time a six line letter from Hoffson to his parents which arrived Christmas eve.

Assurance that it was in fact from their son came in the last line, "Give my love to Ta Thomas," a family name for his grandmother in Cameron.

And now Mrs. Hoffson (the former Elaine Thomas) and her husband are working full time to awaken world-wide interest in the cause of war Vietnam prisoners of war.

They have joined an organization of wives and parents of war prisoners which has launched a drive to demand that North Vietnam adhere to the provisions of the Geneva Convention concerning humane treatment of prisoners. And they are urging friends to express their concern.

Letters and petitions are their hope.

Mrs. McDermott and Mrs. Thomas have forwarded letters to the ambassadors of Cambodia, France, India, Poland, Romania, USSR and Sweden. Their message:

"I ask your help in bringing pressure to bear on Hanoi to live up to the spirit of the Geneva Convention, by putting into practice the rules of the Convention on the Treatment of war prisoners. I am deeply disturbed about the condition of American prisoners of war held in North Vietnam and by the failure of the North Vietnam government to adhere to the provisions of the Geneva Convention concerning humane treatment of prisoners."

They have also sent letters to leading newspapers in these countries.

"North Vietnamese leaders have said that Americans aren't really interested in the war or what happens to prisoners," Mrs. McDermott explained. "Our intention is to assure them that we do care."

She said they hoped others would join them in petitioning and said she had addresses available for anyone interested in writing to express their concern.

Perrin To Seek 2nd Term

Mayor E. A. Perrin announced this week that he has changed his mind and will be a candidate for re-election in the April 7 City election.

The Mayor announced at the January 6 City Council meeting that he would not seek re-election. "Since then," he said in a statement to The Herald, "I have been constantly approached by the citizenship requesting me to change my decision, and announce for the office."

Perrin was elected mayor in 1968, defeating incumbent Bassey Wilson, who was seeking his third consecutive term as mayor. Perrin served as superintendent of schools in Cameron, on the Elm Creek Watershed Board, and on Cameron Urban Renewal Board.

Firemen Answer

Rural, Local Calls

Cameron Volunteer Firemen were called to a grass fire along the Santa Fe Railroad right-of-way near Milano Wednesday afternoon, and to a house fire on Thursday.

Firemen worked for about an hour and a half to extinguish the grass fire, which was burning several places along the right-of-way.

Around 8 a.m. Thursday a fire on a wood burning heater ignited the ceiling and roof of a home at West 3rd and Scott Streets.

The blaze was quickly put out by firemen and little damage was reported to the house.

Courts Review

A detailed summary of cases disposed of in District Court and County Court for the county in 1969 was released by County Atty. John B. Henderson Jr. this week.

Henderson commended law enforcement officers in Milam County for "the outstanding way in which they handled their responsibilities and duties during the last year."

DISTRICT COURT

Thirty-four criminal cases were disposed of by the County Attorney in the District Court of Milam County during 1969. As of January 1, 1970, 43 cases were pending on the criminal docket of the District Court. This number includes 11 cases charging offenses that occurred in 1969 including three indictments against Oscar F. Cook for assault with intent to murder and 8 indictments against the 4 carnival workers who have all been convicted and given the death penalty for murder in the State of Alabama.

Seven theft cases were disposed of by various means. One case was dismissed upon full restitution being made to the injured party by the defendant; 1 indictment was dismissed when a polygraph test results showed that the defendant had no knowledge of the crime and a theft by bailee case was dismissed when the authorities were unable to locate the defendant. One felony theft case was dismissed and the charges refiled in Justice Court; a three-year sentence in the Texas Department of Corrections was the result of an other theft case; one case resulted in a two-year probation sentence and one defendant charged with theft was found not guilty by the Court in a non-jury trial.

Assault with intent to murder was the offense charged in two indictments disposed of in 1969. One of these cases was dismissed for insufficient evidence and the charge of aggravated assault was filed against the defendant in County Court where he pleaded guilty for a four-months' jail term. The other case was dismissed when the authorities were unable to locate the complaining witness. A three-year sentence in the Texas Department of Corrections was the result of a conviction where the Defendant was charged with escaping from jail. One case of robbery was disposed of in District Court this year and this resulted in a seven-year sentence in the Texas Department of Corrections. "Swindling with worthless check" cases were disposed of on two occasions in District Court. The first case was dismissed when we were unable to locate the person charged. Five burglary cases and four attempted burglary cases were disposed of in District Court during 1969. Two burglary cases were dismissed for insufficient evidence; one case resulted in a three-year penitentiary term and the other two defendants received probation sentences. In the attempted burglary cases, two defendants received probation and two received two-year terms in the State Department of Corrections.

One defendant was charged with failure to stop and render assistance and this case was dismissed for insufficient evidence. We had four D.W.I. subsequent offense cases in District Court. One case resulted in a defendant

WORSHIP IN CHURCH

Drive the nail into the board... that is penetration! You may be sure it won't enter of its own accord. It must be driven with sufficient, well-concentrated, properly directed energy. It takes a real artisan to wield a hammer like that. It takes a genuine God to penetrate some of our lives the way He does, too. Jesus "hit the nail on the head" when he said, "There is a way that seemeth right to a man, but the end thereof is the way of death." The Great Carpenter teaches us the fine art of living... how to flex the wrist to give the proper blow... to hold the tongue and protect a good name... to give a faithful witness and save a soul... to lose yourself in a cause infinitely bigger than yourself. Go to church Sunday and drive that nail straight and true. That's penetration!

Facts About

MSG

Washington — (HK) — Government restrictions on cyclamates have brought food additives into the news, raising questions for consumers about many substances. A major producer of monosodium glutamate (MSG), International Minerals & Chemical Corporation, has made available some facts about its product that may answer some of the questions that have been posed:

1. Glutamic acid is a natural ingredient of every protein food, which becomes monosodium glutamate in the natural process of digesting foods.

2. In its use as a good flavor enhancer, monosodium glutamate merely restores foods to the peak flavor by putting back glutamate which is lost in harvesting, processing, and/or long-distance distribution.

3. Its use for that purpose has been researched for safety and effectiveness for more than a quarter of a century; it has been used, in some form, by millions of people for centuries without ill effects.

4. Confused and often distorted statements about its safety followed the recent announcement of a ban on cyclamates. There is no similarity between cyclamates and monosodium glutamate. (Cyclamates are man-made chemicals. Monosodium glutamate is a natural food ingredient.)

receiving two-years in the Texas Department of Corrections; two men received probated sentences and one defendant was sentenced to serve one year in the County Jail on the week-ends.

Two young men from the State of Minnesota pleaded guilty to the possession of narcotics and each of them received a two-year penitentiary sentence. One case charging the defendant with illegally carrying a pistol was transferred to County Court. A defendant charged with murder without malice - automobile (D. W.I.) received a five-year probated sentence. Receiving and concealing stolen property was charged in one case which was dismissed and refilled in the County Court where the Defendant received a ten-day jail term. One case charging illegal disposition of mortgaged property was dismissed when we were unable to locate the defendant. Finally, a case charging forgery and passing a forged instrument was dismissed upon full restitution being made to the injured party by the defendant.

COUNTY COURT

In County Court, we disposed of 175 cases during 1969. Driving while intoxicated headed the list, at almost always does. 113 D.W.I. cases were disposed of by one means or another. In 66 of these cases, the Defendants received probated sentences and thus were able to keep their driver's licenses and a clear driving record as far as the Department of Public Safety is concerned. However, they each paid a fine of between $50 and $100 plus $40 Court costs. In 45 of the D.W.I. cases, the Defendants did not receive probation but a fine, court costs and at least three days in jail. One D.W.I. case was dismissed for insufficient evidence and one individual tried by a jury in County Court was found "not guilty."

Ten individuals were handled for the offense of aggravated assault. The punishment ranged from a fine of $25.00 to five months in jail in a more aggravated case. Two of these ten cases were dismissed for insufficient evidence. Twelve swindling with worthless check cases were disposed of in County Court during 1969. Most of these cases were dismissed upon full restitution being made by the Defendant. Several were dismissed when we were unable to locate the Defendant.

Four cases charging the Defendant with "driving while license suspended" were disposed of. The Court found one Defendant not guilty and other three paid a fine of $25.00 or $50 plus costs of Court. One Defendant who was charged with "turn without safety" dismissed his appeal from Justice Court and paid the fine originally assessed. Four speeding cases appealed from Justice Courts were disposed of. One of these was dismissed on motion of the County Attorney and the other three resulted in the payment of fines when appeals were dismissed by the Defendants.

One Defendant was convicted of destruction of public property and was sentenced to serve thirty days in jail plus payment of Court costs. Eight "carrying a pistol" cases were disposed of and the fine in each case was either $100 or $150 plus costs. One case charging "concealing mortgaged property" was dismissed for insufficient evidence. One man charged in three cases for transporting property without Railroad Commission authority settled his cases by paying a fine and Court costs in one case and the other two cases against him were dismissed.

Five misdemeanor theft cases were handled in County Court during 1969. Two of these were dismissed upon restitution being made and the others resulted in $25 fine and Court costs. We had two cases this year in County Court where the Defendants were charged with making a serious threat to take the life of another person. The fine in one case was $100 and the fine in the other case was $200. One individual charged with making a false statement to the Texas Employment Commission was sentenced to pay a $100 fine and Court costs. Contributing to the delinquency of a minor was charged in one case disposed of this year. The Defendant was assessed the following punishment: five days in jail, $25 fine and costs of Court.

We had one case tried in County Court where the Defendant was charged with "failure to yield right of way". The Defendant was found not guilty in a non-jury case. Four individuals were charged with aggravated assault with a motor vehicle and each one was convicted on their plea of guilty. The punishment ranged from a fine of $1.00 to a fine of $250 plus costs. One child support case was dismissed when the father of the child started making regular support payments for the child.

One case charging "carrying a prohibited weapon" was disposed of on a plea of "no contest." The Defendant received a seventy day jail sentence plus Court costs. Five cases charging destruction of private property were handled in County Court during 1969. Each of the Defendants received a probated sentence providing for substantial fines and full restitution to the injured parties.

Does Your Son Drive?

If your son doesn't drive now, it will only be a few short years before he will. Early in life his interest in the family car will quicken; he'll sit behind the wheel in your parked car and "make believe"; he'll watch you go through the routine of starting and stopping and will tell you "I could drive if I had to, it's easy. All you do is turn the key and..." You'll just smile.

But in a few years, pretending won't be enough. He'll have a new vocabulary of speed and know about "pipes" and "dig out" and "dragging". You'll shiver at the words, but you are convinced that it is vital to his social development for him to drive. So you'll lecture and hope - and pray - and let him learn.

Yes, he'll drive. Yet you wonder about your boy at the wheel. You know that youth is the time of adventure. That young men have always been inclined to accept the challenge, flaunt the rule, and take a chance. Yes, even not recognize danger.

Can your sons be really safe drivers?

Yes they can. Teaching them to be safe poses one of the greatest single problems parents can face even with the help of high school driver education. Unfortunately, not enough parents succeed. (Only one of every three Texas high schoolers is getting driver education through a school program.)

Does your son drive or is he about to start? Perhaps there are questions in your mind about young men at the wheel. The insurance industry and state traffic officials have studied this problem for years. Here is some information which might interest you.

As a group, young men under 25 are rated as the worst drivers. From the east to west coast, state vehicle records show that they comprise about 18 percent of the total drivers are involved in about 25 percent of all accidents, and unfortunately, 28 percent of all fatal accidents. Furthermore, the extent of damage is greater than accidents involving other age groups. This is why automobile insurance rates are higher for young men under 25 years of age.

Isn't it just a few "bad actors" who cause all the accidents and youngsters who drive?

No. Actually, the problem involves more than the so-called three percent. Repeaters may attract public attention, but they are not the major expense factor. Most of the accidents in this group are "first" accidents. Records show that claims frequency within the first year of passing the driving test is 30 percent; second year, 25 percent; third year, 20 percent.

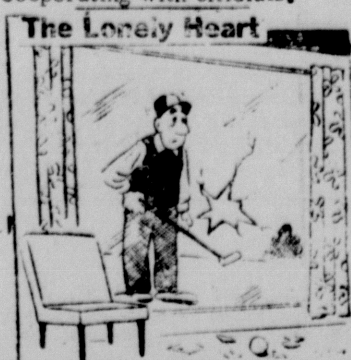

What can be done to help? Setting a good example is a pretty good start. A mature attitude in driving is the most important part of safety. Driving not only within the speed limit but at a speed prudent to traffic conditions, will correct a multitude of evils.

"Defensive" instead of "offensive" driving must be stressed. Defensive driving means recognizing possible trouble areas, or driving difficulties ahead, and having the forethought to allow for such. A ball rolling out in the street, a car approaching a stop sign at abnormal speed, weather conditions, driving errors of others; all of these are "caution" signals to the alert driver. The reverse of defensive driving is the common fault of some youngsters to "join the trouble" - the "you-all-come" attitude.

In 1965, 3,700,000 young Americans celebrated their 18th birthday. This was nearly 1,000,000 more than the 1964 crop of 18-year-olds.

Each succeeding year will be bigger than the one before. In another 10 years it is estimated that over one-half of the people in the United States will be under age 25.

Your youngster is probably no different than others. He probably will be more receptive to advice from an outsider than from his own parents. In accepting an underage driver for insurance, insurance agents are asking a few minutes time to discuss the Texas Financial Responsibility Law's responsibility to one's community; the importance of not lending the car to another minor driver; what to do when an accident occurs; and cooperating with officials.

Icebergs May Solve Future Water Shortages

Cities of the future may tow in an iceberg to help solve water shortages.

For decades, men have sought to tap the abundant water locked in the polar icecaps. Antarctica alone holds about 80 percent of the Earth's fresh water in its frozen grip.

More than a century ago, ships from San Francisco sailed to Alaska to bring back lake ice. But in 1853, when mild weather slowed the freezing of lakes, glacier ice proved a satisfactory substitute, the National Geographic Society says.

Towing Icebergs Proposed Oceanographers have suggested that icebergs could be towed to the West Coast to furnish water for Southern California's desert.

Two United States scientists recently estimated that if an iceberg 250 yards thick and 2,700 yards across were towed to Australia, it would provide 207 billion gallons of water -- even though 70 percent of the iceberg would melt during the trip.

Dr. William Campbell, of the Department of the Interior's Geological Survey, and Dr. Wilford Weeks of the Army's Cold Regions Research and Engineering Laboratory, concluded that a sea-going tug could make the voyage for less than $1 million. The fresh water obtained from the iceberg would be worth about $5.5 million.

This would be less than a tenth of the cost for an equivalent amount of desalted sea water. The scientists had in mind tabular, or flat-surfaced icebergs that form when the continental ice shelf covering Antarctica is eroded by the pressure of tides, storms, snowfalls, and even earthquakes.

For example, ice formation thrusts the 160,000-square-mile Ross Ice Shelf seaward as much as four feet in a day. Icebergs -- some larger than American states -- are broken off from the shelf's edge by the action of the sea.

In 1956 the Navy icebreaker Glacier skipped a tabular iceberg 208 miles long, 60 miles wide and about 1,000 feet thick. The 12,000-square-mile mass nearly equaled Connecticut and Massachusetts combined.

Icebergs found in the Arctic usually are mountainous rather than tabular, and frequently assume fanciful shapes.

These floating castles and cathedrals sometimes become top-heavy as they melt. A ship attempting to tow one would risk being crushed if the iceberg capsized.

As many as 20,000 Arctic icebergs can form in a single year, primarily from glaciers pushing into the sea. Where the seabed drops away sharply from the land, the sea eats into the overhanging ice until it breaks off as an iceberg.

Winston Churchill suggested towing icebergs in World War II, but not for water. A British historian quotes him:

"Let us cut a large chunk of ice from the Arctic icecap and tow it down past Cornwall, fly on our aircraft and tow it to the point of attack."

Legislative Report

Texas' war on crime has been intensified in the past year. A record number of officers are on duty with the Department of Public Safety, including a threefold increase in the number of DPS officers assigned to control illicit narcotics, one of the greatest problems facing our Texas young people at this time.

All other officers (700 throughout the state) are learning more about the problems and control of narcotics through a special Narcotics Training Program.

Beginning September 1, 1970, a course on the dangers of narcotics and crime will be taught by qualified teachers in grades 5 through 12 in Texas Public Schools.

There have been distributed more than 500,000 leaflets entitled, "Laws Teenagers Should Know," to schools, sheriffs' offices, probation officers, police departments, civic groups and youth organizations to help youngsters realize more clearly what laws they are most likely to be concerned with during the teenage years.

In the State of Texas, we have developed the first Criminal Justice Plan for Texas, and the Governor's office is currently administering grants to improve law enforcement in the state at every level. Our people of all races are becoming aware of the problems and are all working hand in hand to overcome these. This is the way it should be.

Poverty in Texas is being reduced almost twice as fast as in the nation at large. Figures reveal that in Texas during 1969, poverty dropped at a rate of .36 percent compared to a national average decrease of .2 percent.

The Governor received and reviewed 273 recommended federal anti-poverty programs totaling $38.6 million.

The Texas Office of Economic Opportunity in the Governor's office applied for and received $474,000 in emergency food and medical services funds for the residents of the 26 counties in the state which have the highest incidence of poverty.

TOEO took the lead in obtaining grants totaling $300,000 for Follow-Through Programs in four Texas school districts, and promoted a statewide Child Development program. We all realize that the solution of our problems in Texas lies in quality education and understanding in every community.

Following English precedent, a few of our states still consider suicide a crime—legally. But nowhere are penalties imposed, either against the person's body or against his property.

What about a suicide attempt that fails? A larger number of states do classify attempted suicide as a crime. However, it is seldom prosecuted, perhaps because of a feeling that punishment would serve no useful purpose.

Nevertheless, the law may deal sternly indeed with someone who actively helps a would-be suicide to take his own life. Consider this case:

A despondent woman told her husband that she no longer cared to go on living. He brought her some poison and placed a quantity in her mouth. She promptly gulped it down and, in short order, succumbed.

Brought to trial later on a charge of homicide, the husband protested: "She herself wanted to die. All I did was let her carry out her own wishes."

Nevertheless, the court found him guilty as charged, since he had played an active role in bringing about his wife's death. The judge said society could not shut its eyes to the act of feeding someone poison, merely because the victim gave her consent.

COMBINATION FLY RIG—Some ambitious fly fishermen use a spinner to make their fly more attractive to bass. This combination works well, but such a rig is difficult to cast properly.

DRY FLIES IN THE EVENING—Most wonderful way to fish for bass is with a dry fly. True, the dry fly, as a rule, is not nearly as successful in catching bass as the wet fly. But if you use a large dry fly, especially of the spider type, late in the evening, you might be surprised.

THE 'WIN' PSYCHOLOGY...

Cameron appears to be heading for a successful season at Yoe High School as the Yoe cagers win three consecutive district contests.

There is a psychology to winning, and the Yoe cagers seem to have learned how to win mentally before they take to the hardwood. Last season, they broke a 15-year loss string to gain a winning season. And now, though it is early to know, the Yoemen are leading district contenders in their league.

RE-ORDERING THIS 'STATE'...

President Nixon's "State of the Union" was a view of the domestic landscape.

And he admitted it is hard to see through the smog and walk through litter and drink polluted water.

In brief, he attacked our environmental problems, which in populous parts of the country, are momentous threats to the health of tens of millions.

He spoke also of continuing efforts to improve relations with Russia and to reduce spending in government.

In short, the President is trying to restore some sanity in the world while trying to get out of Vietnam.

He sees the domestic problems far greater, including inflation, central cities and crime, than foreign problems despite the continuing involvement in Vietnam.

It is the coaching, of course. But it is also an attitude, completely different from previous years toward the winter sport.

It is possible for Yoe High School to play all sports as competently as football, shaking the image of only a grid-iron town and establishing the fact of a winner in football and basketball and other activities as well.

If you think "win," you may just win more often than before.

He sees the same dangers that Stalin saw in Russia back in the 1920's, following Lenin's death. Trotsky, Lenin's revolutionary contemporary, wanted world revolution, since the revolution was complete in Russia by 1925.

But Stalin knew the impossibility of expansion of revolution when its base was feeble. So he concentrated on solidifying the new Russia.

The President is reversing our world involvement economically and militarily because the U. S. base of self-rule, the opposite of state rule, continues in trouble.

The literal environment of this country is now a major concern, both economic and physical. We hope politicians either side of the aisle see the necessity of re-ordering this "State of the Union."

E. A. Perrin Announces His Candidacy For Mayor

To the Citizenship of Cameron:

Tuesday two weeks ago, I announced to the City Council at its regular session, that I would not be a candidate for re-election as Mayor of Cameron. I was sincere in my statement.

Since, I have been constantly approached by the citizenship requesting me to change my decision, and announce for the office, I did not lightly make my decision not to run and I have not lightly changed my mind and decided to run for re-election.

In making my announcement for this office in 1968, I was not ambitious to be the Mayor of Cameron, but felt that I could contribute to calming the division of the citizenship of Cameron that existed relative to its City Government.

I have felt that my term of office has attained this goal, and that the majority of the citizenship were satisfied with the work of the City Council, and that the heads of the departments and other City employees were working towards a better city government.

It was never my intention to serve more than one term, consequently, I made my announcement not to run.

Because of the pressure brought upon me to change my mind and run, I am announcing for re-election. If I am re-elected I will, as I always have, do my best to serve the interests of Cameron and its citizens.

Sincerely yours,
E. A. Perrin
